School Bill Calls For 1.25 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education and Labor Committee is expected to give final approval today to the administration's $1.25 billion school bill.

Only one portion of the measure awaited a committee okay, but it was the heart of the program, a $1 billion plan to help finance the education of less fortunate children.

Under it, the federal government would grant school districts 50 per cent of their average per-pupil cost for each youngster from a family with an income of under $2,000.

Some opponents of this formula have argued that this would mean districts with better programs and resulting higher per-pupil costs would get more money than poorer districts.

Dollar Goes Farther

The administration has replied that differences in the cost of living make a dollar go farther in the poorer areas; hence, the bill's goal — upgrading education for the so-called pockets of poverty — would be accomplished.

Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., also is worried about the administration aid formula. He said it doesn't take into account some 227,000 children from families on relief which have an annual income exceeding $2,000.

—Authorize $25 million for grants to help state departments of education map long-range programs.

He planned to present an amendment today to provide federal funds in behalf of these youngsters.

But the chairman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., predicted committee approval of the administration formula today. This would pave the way for debate and a vote by the full House.

During its session Friday, the committee approved three sections of the bill. These would:

—Authorize $100 million to establish supplementary education centers that provide both public and private school children with services not available under regular school programs.

—Authorize $45 million to train personnel for work on new education techniques and to build regional research centers.

Parochial Items Included

Earlier, the committee had okayed a $100 million proposal for the purchase of textbooks and library books to be used by children in public and private schools.

The latter provision, plus the one setting up supplementary education centers, could provide aid for parochial school students. Approval of the provisions without any real opposition in the committee was taken as a sign that the church-state controversy may be quieting. It has blocked school aid legislation for years.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., tried to alter the supplementary education center plan. His aim was to pull the states more deeply into the program, and his action was not based on the bill's parochial overtones.

As the plan now is drawn, Goodell argues that the centers could become a separate federal-local school system.

Indonesia Cuts Off USIS News

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Subandrio has ordered the U.S. Information Service closed down throughout Indonesia, Antara news agency reported today.

The official agency said Subandrio made the statement before a meeting of youth and students in Medan, North Sumatra, Thursday.

Antara quoted Subandrio as saying "as from this moment on the USIS will no longer poison your thoughts. Thereby USIS is automatically closed down" in Indonesia.

Antara said Subandrio's statement was welcomed by the crowd with "thunderous applause."

According to Antara, Subandrio also said that "all activities and operations of USIS in Indonesia would no longer be tolerated to poison the Indonesian people way of thinking through the material USIS used to disseminate through the country."

Gambling Raids Net 69 Persons In 41 Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government agents raided gamblers and bookmakers in 41 cities Friday, arresting 69 persons and seizing $18,209, eight slot machines and eight cars.

The raids were staged by special agents from the Internal Revenue Service's intelligence division. They were directed at persons who had failed to purchase the $50 wagering tax stamp.

IRS spokesmen said agents hit 65 location in Illinois, Omio, Florida, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New York, Texas, New Jersey, Louisiana, Kansas, Tennessee and Pennsylvania.

Muslim Guards Not Fooling At Chicago Rally

CHICAGO (AP) — They hung from the rafters. They mingled in the crowd. They kicked out newsmen. They asked policemen to surrender their revolvers.

They are the stern elite corps of the Black Muslims known as the Fruit of Islam, the men responsible for the security of Elijah Muhammad, head of the black nationalist sect.

The occasion was the opening day of the Muslims' annual convention in Chicago. This time the Muslims and Chicago Police had the same aim: protect Muhammad.

During Muhammad's hour-and-a-half speech to the convention, the highly disciplined guards, trained as karate experts, were at his side, standing at attention.

No Sense Of Humor

On the short drives from Muhammad's South Side mansion to the coliseum, the guards rode in autos in front of and behind their leader.

Their presence was ominous to the unwelcome: the white man.

"They have no sense of humor," said Felix Bolo, a reporter for Agence France-Presse. "They are not fooling."

The rigorous security included two thorough searches of every person entering the oval-shaped coliseum. Women were searched by female Black Muslims in a separate room.

The more athletic guards were assigned to perches high in the rafters of the coliseum where they scanned activities below.

Newsmen had to submit to a 20-minute frisk for weapons and personal effects considered contraband by the Fruit of Islam. Along with their coats and hats, the reporters relinquished their pen knives, nail files, cigarettes and lighters.

Negro Newsman Barred

Photographers' rolls of film were checked to make sure none contained a bomb.

The 70 police stationed outside the coliseum refused to be searched, although officials agreed to keep uniformed officers out of the coliseum.

Even without police, inside security was extraordinary. Fruit of Islam guards were stationed 25 feet apart in the balcony, in clusters on the main floor every 25 feet, and at the front and rear of the platform where Muhammad held forth.

A Negro newsman had the most trouble with the guards.

CBS reporter Ben Holman, who once worked for the Chicago Daily News, was hastily ejected after he was recognized as the writer who infiltrated the organization and wrote a long series about it.

Stunting Pilot Spares Homes, Jumps Too Late

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Stunt pilot Johnny Foyle wanted to win the aerobatic trophy for the outstanding pilot in this weekend's air show here.

Instead, the trophy will be named in honor of Foyle, who lost his life guiding his crippled biplane away from a residential area before it crashed Friday.

Foyle, 38, of Baltimore, could have parachuted to safety. But he didn't.

His stunt plane was damaged in a collision with another plane while shooting a television sequence.

It started into a dive toward a section of expensive homes.

"He horsed it up away from the homes," a witness said, then he jumped.

It was too late. Foyle's body was found near the wreckage. His parachute was only partly opened.

The other plane was piloted by Alger McGinty of Fort Lauderdale. McGinty and a passenger, NBC television photographer Bob Donahue, 51, of Baldwin, N.Y., were injured when their plane crashed on landing.

McGinty was hospitalized with serious injuries. Donahue suffered minor bruises.

'Help Hubbard' Funds Solicited

DEARBORN (AP) — Supporters of Mayor Orville L. Hubbard announced a "Help Hubbard" fund drive Friday to aid him in his legal fight against charges he has violated Civil Rights laws. Hubbard is under federal indictment in connection with a racial disturbance. The State Civil Rights Commission also has charged him with rights violations.

Laos Refugees Fed From Sky By U. S. Airmen

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — With simple faith, 175,000 refugees scattered on the rugged mountains of Laos raise eyes to the sky for their daily wherewithal of survival.

It never fails to come, aboard unmarked American transports which roar overhead and drop rice and supplies.

"I run quite an airline here," remarked Charles Mann, director of the U.S. Agency for International Development in Laos.

"We have 26 planes which move 2,500 tons of cargo a month. They log from 3,200 to 4,000 hours a month. The air transport involves dropping 1,200 tons of rice monthly at 100 different spots, mostly in the mountainous northern part and costs Uncle Sam $10 million a year."

This represents nearly one fourth of the U.S. program in Laos, excluding military expenditures which are not announced.

Laos is a rice-deficit country and imports that basic food. The United States buys it in neighboring Thailand for the refugee relief work.

One of the U.S. mission's program is to improve local rice seeds. "We hope Laos will become self-sufficient in three or four years," Mann said.

The refugees kept alive by U.S. aid perhaps represent 7 per cent of the population. They are fugitives from Communist action — Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese drives against various minority tribes living on high ground.

Selma Shooting Victim Dies

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A state prosecutor has taken a signed statement in the death of a Negro laborer who said he was shot by a state trooper during an outburst of racial violence last week.

The first death in this state's newest civil rights campaign came Friday. The campaign was initiated six weeks ago by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to increase Negro voter registration.

The victim was Jimmie Lee Jackson, 26, who was wounded by gunfire eight days ago at nearby Marion when police officers broke up a night march by Negroes.

"I have a statement voluntarily signed by the man who did the shooting," said circuit Solicitor Blanchard McLeod, the state prosecutor. But McLeod declined to elaborate. He said all evidence would be presented to a grand jury in Marion within the next two weeks.

Woman, 24, Saved From Injection Of Snake Venom

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A Vigil against the effects of venom from one of the world's deadliest snakes continued today for a young woman but the danger appeared over.

Mary Rayborn, 24, who accidentally injected herself with coral snake venom, waited in a hospital room a block from the laboratory where the mishap occurred.

The wound on her finger was cut and bled immediately. Blood from a Florida man who had built up immunity to reptile venom was flown in by jet. Serum made from the blood was administered Friday.

Arrests Smash Cairo Spy Ring

CAIRO (AP) — The government-controlled newspaper Al Ahram said today an espionage network has been broken up and among those arrested were some German nationals.

The report did not identify the Germans. It linked the arrests with the mysterious disappearance earlier this week of six West Germans in Cairo.

Communist Invasion In Viet Nam Bared

Black Leader Warns Avengers Of Malcolm X

CHICAGO (AP) — Elijah Muhammad, leader of the militant anti-white Black Muslims, has laid down a warning to any would-be avengers of Malcolm X: "We will fight you if you fight us."

Threats to Elijah Muhammad's life have been numerous since the slaying in New York Sunday of Malcolm X, who split with the Muslims last year and formed the Organization of Afro-American Unity, a rival Muslim group.

"They are coming to kill me," the small, wiry 67-year-old Muhammad told his assembled followers, who half-filled the 7,500 seats in the coliseum.

"We are not going to stand and keep silent and see hypocrites going around bombing places," Muhammad vowed, alluding to the destruction by explosion and fire of a Muslim mosque early Tuesday in New York's Harlem.

"If police departments cannot put a stop to it, we can put a stop to it," Muhammad said.

The spotlight at the convention today may be on boxing. Muhammad Ali, better known as Cassius Clay, the world's heavyweight champion, holds an exhibition match with Cody Jones. Elijah Muhammad plans to attend.

Security was tight at the convention.

Fifty Chicago policemen combed the coliseum for bombs before the meeting opened. Other officers joined the 11-car caravan escorting the Black Muslim leader to the convention site from his 19-room South Side mansion. Muhammad had been the target of many death threats and one caller said bombs were hidden in the coliseum.

Elijah Muhammad

Muhammad took security precautions of his own. He spoke from within a human wall of Muslim leaders that surrounded his lectern set far back on the stage.

Muhammad again disavowed any responsibility for Malcolm X's death, saying the one-time Muslim reaped the fruits of his own teachings.

"He was teaching blood bath," Muhammad said. "He said go home and get a shotgun, a rifle and a machine gun. He got what he preached."

Air Force Jets Collide At Sea; 8 Men Missing

PEASE AIR FORCE BASE, N.H. (AP) — Extensive air and surface rescue operations continued today some 220 miles south of Cape Race, Nfld., for two huge air force jet planes that plunged into the sea Friday after colliding during a refueling operation.

The eight men aboard the two crafts were listed as missing.

A six-engine B47 bomber from the 351st Bomb Squadron at Pease Air Force Base was "locked on" to the fueling hose of a four-engine KC135 tanker when the planes hit and plunged into the sea.

State Blizzard Area Mops Up

By The Associated Press

Stormswept Southern Michigan was returning to normalcy today after its 48-hour battle with bad weather.

Highway traffic moved unimpeded again for the most part though side roads still lay under deep snow.

A forecast of continuing moderate weather indicated the post-storm mop-up would go ahead speedily.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said a warming trend would bring temperatures of 23 to 35 degrees in Lower Michigan. Winds diminished.

The storm, blamed directly or indirectly for 28 deaths, left lasting marks, however.

Idled business and insutry, including the automobile manufacturers, suffered uncalculated losses. Some auto plants were down for almost the entire storm period.

White Paper Of U.S. Reveals Red Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States published a new "white paper" on Viet Nam today that charged North Viet Nam with waging an aggressive war against South Viet Nam as if it were an open invasion.

"It is important," the State Department said in the 14,000-word document, "for free men to know what has been happening in Viet Nam, and how, and why. That is the purpose of this report."

An evident purpose of the report, too, is to lend support to the Johnson administration's policy of striking against targets in North Viet Nam. These bombings, undertaken three weeks ago, are expected to continue.

Deliberate Aggression

The war in Viet Nam has reached new levels of intensity, the white paper said. "The elaborate effort by the Communist regime in North Viet Nam to conquer the south has grown, not diminished."

This effort, the State Department said, is a deliberate campaign of concealed aggression "as real as that of an invading army."

The white paper was designed to show with precise figures the extent to which the Viet Cong guerrillas in the south are supported and controlled by North Viet Nam. Thereby it sought to refute any suggestion that it is simply a civil war being fought in South Viet Nam.

The United States "will not abandon friends who want to remain free," the paper said. "It will do what must be done to help them."

Thus, Washington underlined its support of Saigon, a support it is giving with men, money and material.

Peace Pressure Grows

Friday, U.S. military authorities said several hundred more American GI's will be sent to South Viet Nam.

The State Department's case against North Viet Nam was presented before the world amid mounting pressures in several quarters for consideration of negotiations to end the conflict.

The United States would be ready at once to reduce its military involvement if peace could be restored in South Viet Nam, the document said.

But, it added, "the choice now between peace and continued and increasingly destructive conflict is one for the authorities in Hanoi to make."

The last report on the Viet Nam war was issued by the State Department in 1961. Today the department said new evidence of North Viet Nam aggression has accumulated and "the government of the United States believes that evidence should be presented to its own citizens and to the world."

"Military men, technicians, political organizers, propagandists and secret agents have been infiltrating into the republic of Viet Nam from the north in growing numbers.

Force Gets Larger

"The flow of Communist-supplied weapons, particularly those of large caliber, has increased. Communications links with Hanoi are extensive. Despite the heavy casualties of three years of fighting, the hard core Viet Cong force is considerably larger now than it was at the end of 1961."

The report gave these particulars:

Manpower — hard-core Viet Cong strength now is estimated at more than 32,000 compared to less than 20,000 in 1961. It has five regimental headquarters, 50 battalions and an estimated 139 companies. Supporting the main force units are an estimated 60,000 to 80,000 part time guerrillas who receive only half pay which means they must work at least part of the time to scratch out a living.

Weapons — an increasing number of weapons from outside Communist sources have been seized in the south including 57mm and 75mm recoilless rifles, dual purpose machine guns, rocket launchers, large mortars and anti-tank mines.

Talks On Steel Contract Will Be Resumed March 8

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Negotiations for a new contract in the basic steel industry apparently will resume March 8. And if they do, it won't come too soon for either side.

A telegram exchange Friday between United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald and R. Conrad Cooper, the industry negotiator, indicated March 8 would be the earliest practical date to resume the talks, suspended last January during the bitter steelworkers election campaign.

The exchange came as concern mounted in both industry and union over stockpiling by steel users, jittery over the possibility of a steel strike. The union can strike May 1 if no settlement is reached.

Abel Leads In Vote

I.W. Abel, USW secretary-treasurer reportedly is leading McDonald in the close election.

The steelworker votes still are being tallied by union tellers behind locked doors in Pittsburgh and there is no indication how long it will be before the results are known.

Despite the strong possibility that protests will throw the election into the courts, it appeared from talks Friday with officials of the U.S. Labor Department that whoever is declared the office June 1. The tellers must report by May 1.

winner by the tellers will take.

Even before Friday's telegram exchange was announced it was apparent both sides were becoming increasingly impatient to get back to the bargaining tables.

Layoffs Ahead?

Although the dizzying production pace, spurred by stockpiling, is lining the pockets of worker and company alike, both know it can't go on forever. They want to get back on an even keel.

One steelworker official put it this way: "There hasn't been stockpiling around this area like this since 1959 — the last and longest steel strike. If this goes on and even if the contract is extended beyond May first there's going to be a depressed period when it ends. That means layoffs and serious ones."

The industry problem is different. Said one source: "Every month that goes by the building of additional stockpiles uses facilities that are largely of a standby nature. They are little used facilities and are expensive to put into shape in a boom or bust situation. And they're wearing out."

Auto Workers Get Pay Boost

DETROIT (AP) — More than 500,000 hourly rated workers at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler auto plants will get one-cent-an-hour pay boosts Monday because of an increase in the nation's cost of living index.

Another 250,000 salaried personnel will get equivalent raises.

The cost of living rose .1 per cent in January, largely because of higher prices for housing, gasoline and auto insurance, the Labor Department said.

The increase was the fifth straight monthly rise. It brought the consumer index to 108.9 per cent of the 1957-5 average.

Highways Will Be Made Safer

LANSING (AP) — The Highway Commission announced Friday a $4 million program to make state highways safer.

Increased gas tax revenues produced the funds for the program, the department said.

Safety measures to be taken include:

Special curve markings on 290 miles of freeway and 3,129 miles of other highway.

Illumination of 50 freeway overhead signs.

Removal of all trees within 30 feet of pavement edges.

"Do not enter" and "wrong way" signs at interchange ramps.

Increased use of computer analysis.

Flatter off-pavement surfaces on future freeways to give out-of-control vehicles a better recovery opportunity.

Resurfacing of slippery portions of highways.

American Rubber Property Worth 80 Million Seized

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian government today officially confirmed it has taken over control of American-owned rubber plantations in north Sumatra. The plantations are estimated to be worth $80 million.

The official news agency Antara said the order for the takeover was signed a week ago by Foreign Minister Subandrio.

Planes Pound Viet Cong In Jungle East Of Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese planes struck heavily against a Communist-infested jungle area east of Saigon today and ground forces quickly followed in the largest helicopter airlift of the war.

The action started shortly after dawn and by late afternoon military briefing officers said they had no reports of engagements with the Viet Cong. But they stressed this did not mean that no contact had been made.

The tangled area of jungle and undergrowth is in Phuoc Tuy Province, east of the South Vietnamese capital. Vietnamese troops have been grappling there for several days with the elusive Communist jungle fighters.

The helicopter airlift numbered 137 aircraft, mostly troop carriers. The largest previous helicopter airlift numbered 115 aircraft.

Military authorities said one of the helicopters went down due to mechanical failure. The airlift was preceded by a strike of 20 U.S. Air Force B57 jets and 40 propeller driven Skyraiders flown by Vietnamese pilots. Late in the afternoon another strike of B57s swept down on the area.

It appeared likely that the massive "search and destroy" operation was supported by troops moving in from surrounding areas on the ground. But military spokesmen said "we cannot discuss the troop units involved."

The "chopper" force was drawn from several fields and evidently numbered a substantial portion of the helicopter force available in Viet Nam.

The area being combed was near Binh Gia where the Viet Cong in a series of raids and ambushes late last year gave the Vietnamese army one of its bloodiest defeats. Since that time the Viet Cong has been in effective control of most of the area.

U.P. Tourist Business Advised On Advertising

The Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress has distributed to persons interested in development of U. P. tourist businesses the counsel of Orrin D. Gruetzmacher of Menominee, an advertising agency operator, on how they can best advertise their enterprises to attract business.

Gruetzmacher, who has assisted the Upper Michigan Tourist Association with its advertising program, suggests:

Advertising in all of its forms is basically a "means of communication" — telling people about things. These things may be products, services, institutions or ideas. The "telling" is done through an impersonal medium such as a newspaper, radio or direct mail, making it possible to reach many people quickly and inexpensively.

Advertising bridges the geographical gap between people with things to sell and people with needs to fulfill. When viewed in this manner, much of the mystery that too often surrounds advertising tends to disappear.

It should be clearly understood that advertising is not a panacea which guarantees automatic profits. It is not a medicinal cure-all for the ills of a business. It cannot replace good business judgment, courtesy and value; it can only reflect it.

ADVERTISING is like a mirror because it reflects you, your personality and your business. Therefore, you must do the very best to create the most favorable image in your customer's mind.

The advertising which you put forth will be the first introduction of your business to your prospective customers. How successful this introduction will be depends upon the impression which you will make.

To insure that you make the right impression, determine first the type of character you wish to put across. Remember your advertising is like the suit of clothes which you wear. It helps people determine the type of individual that you are. It is this appearance which projects your personality. So, if there is a secret formula to effective advertising, this is it: determine your personality or character and build it into every advertising message which you put forth.

THE NEXT step in an effective advertising program is to analyze your market by determining: (1) types or classes of people you can successfully serve (2) the geographical areas from which you can attract them and (3) how much business you can hope to obtain with your present facilities or what you could attract if you were to remodel or add to your existing facilities.

You must first determine what class or category of customer you want. You cannot successfully serve everyone. You must develop your appeals to those individuals which can best use your services and facilities. In other words, who are you best qualified to serve: (1) income or price class (2) unique interests (3) age group (4) specialized activities (5) services desired and (6) length of stay.

The second thing you must determine is where your business comes from or could come from. The answers to these questions can best be obtained by analyzing your present customers. If you are in a motel or resort business, you can easily study your guest registration cards. They will tell you exactly where your business comes from and where to place your advertising for the most effect.

YOUR SHARE of the market will be determined by the size and variety of facilities that your business offers. Naturally, if you are in a resort business you could serve a wider range of guests if you had a dining room than you could without it. Therefore, you can always expand your share of the market by expanding your facilities.

The recreation market offers two types of travelers. One is the transient type such as the business traveler passing through your area or the vacationer on his way to some other place. The other is the terminal type such as weekend guests, business meetings or conventions and visitors attracted by special events and attractions.

The next step is to determine which of these groups you can best serve and what new and additional groups could be served by remodeling or enlarging your facilities. Study these possibilities to determine which group would be your best prospects.

BEFORE A well-planned advertising program can be formulated, you must also consider your present customers: (1) where do they come from (2) why did they come and (3) how long did they stay.

The best way to obtain the answers to these questions is to ask your customers personally. The information that you can obtain from your present customers will assist you in increasing your business from the same customer source.

Once you record this information you can answer these questions: (1) where do you fit into the total market situation? (2) how should you appeal to your best prospects? (3) what are they looking for? (4) what should your advertising do?

Following a careful and complete study of your market analysis you can now develop an advertising program which will appeal to each of your market groups which you deem to be your best prospects.

Although business managers must have a working knowledge of the fundamentals of marketing, advertising and selling, these matters usually take the expert skill of specialized and experienced people . . .

THE THREE most important words in advertising are coordination, constancy and consistency.

By coordination we mean that all advertising, from matchbooks to television, should carry one single selling theme or unique selling point whenever or wherever a message is placed.

By constancy we mean repetition. Repeated use of the selling theme over and over again.

By consistency we mean a planned continuing program of advertising. Remember, people are dying, growing old, moving, having children, getting married, falling in love, graduating from school, growing up, being born. Today's headlines are forgotten within weeks or months. How necessary then it is to tell, tell and retell your message to get results.

U. P. Alcohol Meet Planned

Plans for an Upper Peninsula conference on alcoholism were laid this week at a meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Upper Peninsula Alcoholism Education Project at the State Office Building.

The conference—tentatively scheduled at Marquette during May—was proposed to gather specific information about alcoholic problems and treatment of them in the U. P.

The conference proposal evolved from a discussion of goals and function of the Education Project by George Stewart, education director for the State Board of Alcoholism.

Stewart said the function of the Advisory Committee is to act as a steering committee on the entire program with members acting in a liasion capacity between coordinator John Backman of Escanaba and local resource groups.

Stewart said the three basic aims of the program are:

1. To help existing resources (hospitals, etc.) to adapt their skills and functions to meet the needs of alcoholism; 2. To get a general recognition of alcoholism as a treatable illness and existing resources recognized as logical sources for help; 3. To screen cases requiring specialized help and to limit specialized alcoholism resources to these patients.

Newberry State Hospital was represented at the meeting by K. G. Summersett, ACSW director social services, and Dr. William R. Purmort, assistant medical director.

Members of the Advisory Committee were asked to participate in a survey of the Upper Peninsula to determine attitudes and knowledge of different groups toward alcoholism.

The group also discussed treatment facilities in individual communities, praising Alcoholics Anonymous for its work in rehabilitation.

Soapy May Go To Commission

The speculation about what's going to happen to former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, now serving as assistaint U.S. undersecretary for African affairs, in President Johnson's administration changes goes on apace.

The Detroit News reports that state Democratic leaders closer to the former governor aren't impressed that his latest African mission means he will stay in the State Department.

They don't expect the President to let him out of his administration, but they do expect to see him change roles. The President is reported anxious to put his own men in about 800 top places in federal government and this would cut far below Williams, a Kennedy appointee.

Rumored possibilities: a shift to the Peace Corps, the anti-poverty program or even, and more likely, to a little known agency called the International Joint Commission.

If the International Joint Commission should seem beneath the dignity of one of Williams' status, some argument could be made that it would have its political assets.

The agency's principal duty in the past his been the regulation of water levels of lakes and rivers that serve as boundaries between the United States and Canada.

Water pollution has given the commission new problems, and agreements must be approved by the Congress and Canadian Parliament.

The commission is composed of three Americans and three Canadians and the chairman of the American section—the post now open — is a political appointee.

Former governors, senators, and cabinet members have served as chairman in the past.

The pay is in the $30,000 range. More importantly, the duties are not taxing and, although offices are in Washington and Ottawa, the chairman could operate much of the time, if he wished, from a library office in Williams' home area of Grosse Pointe.

Williams, regarded as an almost certain candidate for the U.S. Senate next year if 70-year-old Senator McNamara does not seek a third term, already has been gone from Michigan for four years and is eager to renew old ties here, says the News.

Michigan already has one aspirant for the job, former 14th District Congressman Harold M. Ryan.

College Awarded Work-Study Fund

A work-study grant of $5,405 to assist students of low income families has been awarded to Bay de Noc Community College under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Announcement of the grant was made by U.S. Senator Pat McNamara and Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger.

J. L. Heirman, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bay de Noc Community College, said today the grant under Section 1-C of the Economic Opportunity (War on Poverty) Act had been applied for by the College. Similar federal grants have been approved for other colleges in the region, including Gogebic Community College.

"The funds will be used to provide jobs to students of low income families, who otherwise would not have the opportunity to attend college," Heirman explained.

At Bay de Noc Community College the grant will assist 35 students of low income families in giving them work 10 to 15 hours a week to supplement their income and make attendance at college economically possible.

The program is financed by a 90 per cent federal fund grant plus 10 per cent local money.

Muskies, Pike Closed Season Now In Effect

March 1 marks the new starting date for the closed season on fishing muskellunge and northern pike in all inland waters of Michigan, the Conservation Department reminds anglers.

The seasonal shutdown on muskie and pike action begins two weeks earlier than last year and extends through May 14 in these waters. Previously, it ended with the traditional trout opener on the fourth Saturday of April.

Purpose of the longer closed season is to protect both species during their entire spawning period when they are most vulnerable to being taken in excessive numbers.

Bark River Band Attends Concert

Thirty-one members of the Bark River-Harris Senior Band traveled to Northern Michigan University at Marquette Thursday evening. The group attended the two hour concert presented by Louis Armstrong and his "All Star" Band, at the NMU Fieldhouse.

The Bark River-Harris High musicians were very receptive to Armstrong's band and their style of play. They particularly enjoyed his two famous hits, "Hello Dolly" and "Blueberry Hill." They also appreciated the fine play of the members of Armstrong's band, and were surprised at the excellent ability the entire group displayed.

School officials were happy the group could attend this event. Band students who practice many long hours for their concerts, are often forgotten or rewarded for their efforts.

The group traveled by bus and were accompanied by members of the high school staff.

This is a vintage winter for purple finches in the Escanaba Area, the William Taylors of Ford River report. Both ornithologists, they have banded a thousand of the winter visitors in the past month.

"The visits of the winter species seem cyclic," said Taylor. "This winter purple finches are the chief visitants; last winter it was grosbeaks and the year before that it was finches.

"It is not too late for grosbeaks and we may get quite a few yet. The grosbeak migration, we know from the results of our banding, is east-west, we have had quite a few of our bands reported in eastern Ontario.

"We have had lousy band returns on the finches that we have banded and we don't know much about their migrations. I had assumed that it was north-south, but now I'm not sure.

"We have a few purple finches in the Hiawatha National Forest (he's its staff biologist) all year, but you have to look for them the rest of the year, while they're abundant now. They arrive in migrations from the coniferous forest areas with quite a bit of feather wear. But they're not here long before they have a new purplish color. They're brighter and wonderfully wine colored, like a good burgundy — good enough to drink!"

Northern Gives Library Aid In Growth Program

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan University will follow up curriculum reform with an "expanded graduate program, markedly expanded library resources, updating of its campus development, and more scholarships for promising young men and women," President Edgar L. Harden told faculty members Tuesday.

President Harden said Northern plans to spend $100,000-more than $20 per student—in "strengthening the library, quantitatively and qualitatively, in the coming year."

Announcing a "broader base" for the graduate program, he said Dr. Ray Heffner of the University of Indiana and the North Central Association will work closely with Dr. Clarence Bjork, NMU dean of graduate studies, and Northern faculty members in developing this program.

To help strengthen the University's scholarship program, Northern will provide 250 Board of Control scholarships next year, Dr. Harden said.

A significant adjunct to the educational program will be Northern's educational television network "which will make the work of the professor in the classroom and beyond more effective and will help to improve the quality and quantity of education across the Upper Peninsula."

Included in Northern's building program, Dr. Harden said, will be a "learning resources center, a building which will combine library, faculty offices, and special areas for student-faculty seminars."

Construction will begin this year on a new science building, a new heating plant, an addition to University Center, and new residence halls, he said.

Budget recommendations also call for a complete study of the future use or disposition of Kaye Hall in the over-all program of the University.

Noting that research, supported in part by gifts and grants of $1,396,000 during the past year, is becoming increasingly important at Northern, Dr. Harden announced that Dr. Roy Heath, acting head of the Deparmen of Chemisry, will become full-time coordinator of research and development.

Dr. Dwight L. Dumond, outstanding historian and professor emeritus of the University of Michigan, will be Northern's first distinguished professor in residence this summer.

Starvation Is Starting Toll Of U.P.'s Deer

First reports of deer lost through starvation in the Upper Peninsula this winter have come from the Huron Mountains in northern Marquette County—and conservation officials fear a heavy loss may occur before the spring breakup.

At least five deer are known to have been lost in the Huron Mountains, almost certainly through starvation, and it's probable that a number of others have succumbed there without having been discovered yet. All five carcasses were found in the vicinity of Conway Lake.

There is a possibility of starvation losses having occurred also in the Ned Lake country in Baraga County and the 14-Mile Point and Misery Bay areas of Ontonagon County, said William E. Laycock, Marquette, regional game biologist for the Michigan Conservation Department.

"Unless we get a break in the weather real soon, our deer herd is going to be in serious trouble," Laycock asid. The winter already shows signs of being the worst since 1955.

Snow And Cold

A combination of heavy snowfall and extremely cold temperatures has put Upper Peninsula's deer on the edge of peril after two consecutive mild winters.

Some indication of how bad this winter has been is furnished through the conservation department's 35 snow gauges in the Upper Peninsula. This week's average for all gauges, including those in the southern part of the Peninsula, is 2.4 feet. Maximum depth—3.7 feet—was recorded at Melstrand in Alger County and 3.4 feet was recorded in Ontonagon County.

The gauges are read at the beginning of each week, and three of the last four weekly readings have shown above the average depths for the corresponding dates at any time in the last 10 years.

And temperatures have been well below average for much of the winter. Sub-zero readings have been common throughout the region.

Wisconsin Too

"With the heavy snow we've had, it's difficult for deer to get around in the yards," Laycock said. "They can't get off the trails to find food.

"And when this condition is accompanied by cold weather, deer burn up their fat as, especially the smaller ones."

Even if the Upper Peninsula has an early spring breakup, Laycock is afraid there may be extensive deer herd losses.

Similar conditions prevail in Northern Wisconsin, it was reported this week. "We are losing deer every day," said Bert Danlberg, northwest area game supervisor at Spooner, Wis. "And the worst is yet to come. There are yards up here right now where we have no more than a hope and a prayer."

Soo To Launch Jobless School

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—A pilot program by which the public school system here aims to help unemployed adults with less than a fifth grade education awaits approval from the State Department of Public Instruction.

Schools Supt. Hugh Holloway said the state office has been asked to provide funds for establishing the program under the Economic Opportunity Act. The funds request was submitted earlier this week.

Holloway said the pilot project would involve not more than 30 students in small classes of basic English and computation with a view toward returning the students to the labor market. It would be operated in addition to the area's present adult education program of skilled classes.

Ford To Expand Vinyl Plant At Mount Clemens

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co., said it will expand its vinyl plant at Mount Clemens because of the rising demand for Ford Motor Co. vehicles.

The program includes adding floor space and equipment to hike production of interior trim materials by 15 per cent. Construction will start immediately and work is to be finished by the summer of 1966.

No figure was given but a Ford spokesman said the cost would be in the "milti-million dollar" range.

Death Claims Mrs. Fitzgerald

Mrs. Allene Mable FitzGerald, 58, of 1511 7th Ave. S., died at 12:35 p. m. Friday at St. Francis Hospital where she had been a patient for the past 2½ months.

Mrs. FitzGerald was born Oct. 1, 1906, in Wexford County, Mich., and had been an operator for Michigan Bell Telephone Co. She came to Escanaba 12 years ago from Grand Rapids.

She was married Dec. 7, 1942 to Harry FitzGerald, who survives.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. G. H. Weber of Grand Rapids and Mrs. C. J. Hickman of Des Plaines, Ill.

She was a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Home where friends may call after 6 p. m. Sunday. The body will be removed to St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at 9 a. m. Monday where services will be conducted at 10 a. m. by the Rev. Ben Helmer.

Graveside services will be held at Rest Lawn Cemetery in Grand Rapids at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Draft Board Has Big April Call

Mary M. Wagner, clerk of Delta County Draft Board No. 21, announced today that 42 men will be ordered to report for pre-induction into the armed services in April.

The call, she said, is the largest received here in years.

" don't think we had that many even during the Korean War," she said. "I had to look at the figures twice when they arrived to make sure I wasn't seeing things."

Miss Wagner emphasized that the call is only for pre-induction, but indicated that larger induction calls appear to be the logical result. Induction call for April is three.

"It doesn't seem likely that so many men would be ordered to report for pre-induction tests if they weren't going to be inducted for several years," she said.

Orders will be mailed and names of men selected will be announced as soon as notification of reporting date is received, she said.

Because of recently passed exemptions from the draft for married men and the number of college students deferred, Miss Wagner said the local board is now processing 18-year-olds.

In direct contrast to the 42-man pre-induction call for April, Miss Wagner said that only three men will report Monday for induction and 10 for pre-induction. Three of the pre-induction group have been transferred to other draft boards.

The groups will leave by chartered bus for Milwaukee at 2:15 p. m. Monday.

Inductees, all volunteers from Escanaba, are: Robert L. Bullard, leader of the group, Roger L. Deneau and Robert I. LaFave.

Pre-inductees are: Thomas R. Hanley, Escanaba, leader of the group; Lewis R. Meyers, Cornell; Duane F. Preehl, Rapid River; Nickolas A. Dalgord, Fayette; Darrell L. Jader, Rapid River; Errol S. Dean, Escanaba; Roger D. Buckley (transferred here from Stockton, Calif.); Allan C. Bengsten, Wells (transferred to DesPlaines, Ill.) Kenneth J. Olson, Gladstone (transferred to Milwaukee); Raymon M. Tordeur, Gladstone (transferred to Milwaukee.)

The pre-induction group will return Tuesday.

Dettman Given Resource Office

Three community leaders from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan have been elected officers in the Northern Great Lakes Resource Development Committee.

Harvey Wolter, Eagle River, Wis., was named chairman, Harold Dettman of St. Ignace, Mich., is the new vice chaiman and Charles Witte of Cloquet, Minn., was named secretary. The appointments were made after a Feb. 17-18 meeting of the committee in Hinckley, Minn.

At the meeting status of proposals for national parks and recreation areas in the three states was reviewed by A. T. Edmunds, Philadelphia, northeast region assistant director for the National Park Service.

Edmunds said studies are underway, or have been completed, for the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore near Munising, the Apostle Islands National Lakeshore proposal in Wisconsin, the Voyageurs Park in northern Minnesota and the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore proposal in Michigan. Previous to the February committee meeting the group voted to favor the creation of national parks in the Apostle Islands, Pictured Rocks and Kabetogama Peninsula areas.

The three-state community leaders also voted to explore the possibilities of establishing a regional organization similar to UPCAP — The Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress. Such an organization, if created, would serve northern Minnesota and Wisconsin and northern Michigan, through a program similar to that which UPCAP has established for Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Referring to resources available through the Economic Opportunity Act, Michigan State University Resource Development Specialist Dr. William Kimball of East Lansing stated that many agencies are now set up to deal more with symptoms rather than causes of poverty. "At great many people are caught in the poverty spiral which continues from one generation to another and if we are to reverse the situation we must provide more help for young people," Kimball said. "The most emphasis has, up until recently, been placed on the "smokestack" type of economic development, but the pendulum has now swung over to human resource development," Kimball concluded.

He also was a past president of Gladstone Rotary Club, past worshipful master of Gladstone Lodge 396, F. & A. M., and past president of the Gladstone Men's Bridge Club. He was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Surviving are his wife, the one daughter, Mrs. Fleck, the former Jean Miller, two grandsons, Albert Maurice Fleck of Gladstone and Kenneth E. Fleck, Columbus, Ohio, and two sisters, Misses Lilia and Grace Miller of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

The body was taken to the Kelley Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the funeral home chapel. The Rev. George A. John Porthan, Vicar of Trinity Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning Sunday afternoon.

Artist Divorces Wife Who Didn't Like Houseboat

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Artist Jean Varda, 71, has divorced his third wife, Chryssa Varea Varda, 34, New York sculptress, saying she preferred New York to life with him on a Sausalito houseboat.

"She thought San Francisco was the provinces," he told Superior Court Judge Charles Brusatori in winning an interlocutory decree.

"She was passionately ambitious and thought New York was the only place for an artist. It was a matter of husband vs. career, and she wanted the career."

Varda said they had been wed in Paris in 1955 and she left him three years later.

Learning To Teach

The War on Poverty effort of the federal government is flushing enough money into the nation's welfare and educational processes to create some inspection of the problem as well as some efforts at solution.

One of the early efforts which is most impressive is Ivan Ryan's "New Attack Upon Rural Poverty" project at Northern Michigan University. It has studied the dropouts, age 17-25, in Baraga, Schoolcraft and Mackinac counties, found 733 of them, and recruited more than 30 for the first class in training on campus. Another phase of the project will offer on-the-job training to other dropouts in their home counties.

The class has been under instruction now long enough to have created some preliminary impressions about the dropout problem, at least as the Upper Peninsula finds its phase of this national dilemma.

First off, this pilot project found that some of the "dropouts" had dropped out before kindergarten; they had never been in school at all. This is theoretically impossible because Michigan has a stern law which says that children must go to school until they are 16. Naturalization requires some knowledge of the language so theoretically Michigan is completely literate, but actually it has a quarter million or more illiterates.

So our schools are not enrolling all children.

Once having left school it is known by the school that they have left but not where they are, the study found. This is not surprising. It would require a considerable bureaucracy and regimentation to keep track of former students. The knowledge of what use they made of their schooling should be a valuable guide to schools, but we must rely on samplings. (Our good U. P. high schools keep tab on graduates in colleges and universities during the years of matriculation and this seems about as much as we can hope for now.)

Our system of public schooling is oriented toward the school and not the child, there are holes in the system which let some children fall out of the educational net, and once out of school they pass into limbo, except for a class reunion picnic. It is notable that such events are organized by the students and not by the schools.

Similarly, the NMU dropout project found that its best recruiters for the class were class members themselves and not schools. The schools, buggered with the problem of keeping classes of uneven ability all moving toward graduation, seem unable to be like the shepherd of the Bible who left the 90 and 9 sheep to seek the one that was lost.

In pioneer America, schooling was for the affluent and the lively, but now a new social conscience and a conviction that the country cannot afford to have large numbers of its citizens unable to read or reason in a modest way has posted "Schooling for Everybody" as a national necessity. Not only must people go to school to avoid becoming unemployed welfare careerists; they must also stay there longer than their parents did.

The NMU project has revealed that dropouts are not available for instruction in the numbers predicted. This is one of the darker findings of the study. Once out of school, these young people who could not stay in school plunge quickly into depths from which they cannot easily be fished by free educational training. Most common example of this is the young married woman. She cannot leave her children without a baby-sitting arrangement that makes helping her specially difficult.

"Why help her?" it might be asked. "She's doing all right: she's married and has a career as a housewife. Get on with the poverty business and help those that need it!"

Sorrily, she is one of them. She has a good intelligence but she is caught in an economic bog. She cannot manage her home as well without schooling as she could with it, nor give her children maximum encouragement in development, nor help her husband to his maximum achievement. They are living in poverty.

The vindication for this thinking is available at Marquette. Women in the course have averagely made more progress than men.

The difficulties of rescue (and hence the need for more prevention and less cure) are evident in Ryan's report: "No amount of preplanned conventional classroom activity would have met the needs of these trainees."

The project is humbling in some revelations. One trainee remarked: "The thing I like about the meals most is that there are three of them."

Basic Tool

To build anything, you need tools. If what is under construction is something called the Great Society, surely one of the basic tools is a sound educational system. And within that system, a basic accessory tool is surely the library.

But according to Francis Keppel, U.S. commissioner of education, more than half the nation's public schools lack this requirement for forming educated, creative citizens.

To be exact, 53 per cent of all public schools (70 per cent of elementary schools) don't have libraries. In many cases, where libraries exist, they are inadequate.

The administration has slated $100 million to attack this situation as part of its proposed $1.5 billion federal aid to education program.

Even if libraries were provided for these deficient schools, there is disturbing evidence that a sizable proportion of the teachers charged with instructing children in the use of them wouldn't know how to go about it.

Testing 4,170 prospective school teachers in 69 colleges in 38 states, Ralph Perkins, director of library education at the University of North Dakota, found that 35 per cent of them were unable to interpret a cross reference in the Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature; 60 per cent could not use the cards in a card catalog, and 90 per cent did not know the meaning of a New York Times Index citation.

Many of these prospective teachers didn't know the difference between a biography and a bibliography.

The reason, says Perkins, is simply that nobody ever taught them. In many colleges, a group tour of the library during orientation week is the only instruction students ever get.

South Viets Scared?

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The canard is widespread that South Vietnamese won't die for what they believe.

Let's look at the facts.

In the past four years, Communist Viet Cong murdered 6,000 village leaders, rural police and their wives and children. These were men and women who refused to yield to V. C. threats.

About 1 a. m. one night, 30 armed Viet Cong moved into Binh Thanh hamlet, assassinated with gunshots a young girl, Phan Thi Trinh, chief of the hamlet Republican Youth. The terrorists pinned on her body a death sentence signed Forces for Liberation of South Viet Nam.

Eight o'clock one evening, 20 Viet Cong broke into the house of Ngc Tien, 58, of the Phu Hai hamlet council. They read an indictment condemning him to death, then knocked him down with submachine gun shots. The assassins left the indictment on his body signed Front for Liberation of the South.

At midnight, Viet Cong entered the house of Dang Thien Mon, 70-year-old treasurer of the Trung Hai fishing co-operative. They killed Mon with 10 submachine gun shots and then murdered his 68-year-old wife. They left leaflets of the Front for Liberation of the South.

Many of these Vietnamese took hamlet responsibilities knowing their chance of living was not great.

Within eight months, the V. C. made three bombing attacks on the life of a Dinh Tuong district chief, once blowing up the car he had just gotten out of. He told me he was not about to quit.

In Chu Duc hamlet, Darlac Province, two hamlet chiefs had been killed and three abducted. That didn't prevent a young primary teacher from taking the job.

Some hamlet chiefs keep foxholes handy near their homes, depend on a youth lookout force to warn them when Viet Cong assassins sneak into the area.

Other officials sleep every night with friends in nearby towns, come back each morning to do their work.

Not all Vietnamese are brave of course. The country has some village militiamen who run and hide when Viet Cong approach, and some regular troops who only go through the motions of fighting. There are turncoats, traitors and weaklings.

But in the past four years, 20,000 Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in action and 25,000 wounded.

Consider, too, how difficult it is to fight under these conditions:

One of the earliest Communist Viet Cong operations was directed against the rural Vietnamese police. The Reds would send a small guerrilla force to the outskirts of a town and entice the police garrison to come out and fight. The villagers expected these rural police to go out and protect them.

While the unit was out of its barracks, trying to grapple with this guerrilla force, another Communist group would slip into town and murder the families of the police left behind in the barracks area.

Negro In KKK For Whole Day

By JIM ADAMS

NAMPA, Idaho (AP) — For one whole day, Paul Bellesen was the great titan of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan for all of Idaho.

Then he got booted out.

"Now I just figured they might do something like that," said Bellesen.

He's a Negro.

Bellesen, 33, owner and operator of a janitor service, was appointed Idaho's highest (and only) Klan official after writing a letter to Imperial Wizard James R. Venable of Tucker, Ga.

He said he mentioned that he was with the Elks Club "I failed to mention that I do janitor work for the club") and thought he had followers sympathetic to the Klan.

Bellesen said he signed a statement that he was a "white, Anglo-Saxon Protestant," and mailed his membership application along with the $15 fee.

"Being a Negro and supposedly unable to read anyway, I signed it," he said.

Incidentally, he's also a Roman Catholic.

Then Wednesday night Venable was informed that his new recruit was a Negro.

"He has perpetrated a fraud through the mails," said Venable, promptly revoking Bellesen's membership.

"It was a great challenge to me to see just how secret the Klan is and if I could get in," said Bellesen.

Questions And Answers

Q—When were watches believed to have been synchronized in warfare for the first time?

A — During the siege of Vicksburg in the Civil War.

Q—For how long has the United States had a "Conscience Fund"?

A—In 1811, during Madison's administration the "Conscience Fund" was started by an unknown person who sent an anonymous letter containing five dollars, since he had, he claimed, defrauded the government of that sum. The government has received more than $500,000 from citizens in conscience money. This is applied to the general fund in the Treasury.

Q—Which land animal has the largest eyes?

A—The horse.

Finding The Way

Ban Fear Of Shadows

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

In our part of the country, people talked about the groundhog seeing his shadow just a month ago. We wanted to be seeing the tips of tulips and daffodils by this time but there was that shadow to frighten off spring. It's just a legend, but then people are influenced by such things. Perhaps a part of the cold wintry hatred of mankind is simply that we are frightened by our own shadows!

"I have a little shadow
That goes in and out
with me,
And what can be the use of him
Is more than I can see."

I join Robert Louis Stevenson in that comment.

The truth is that shadows have connoted fright. The lengthened shadow of Hitler fell across mankind. A British commentator said the other day that this year had begun under the shadow of the deaths of T. S. Eliot and Winston Churchill. It's the awareness that there is a fright in some shadows, either of the hatred that comes or the greatness that goes.

There's also the refreshment of the shadow. The shadow of a mighty rock in a weary land or the shadow of the valley where the heat wasn't quite as destroying have lured men through the ages. To those who have a profound sense of purpose in their lives there's the awareness of sustaining strength "even in the valley of the shadow of death."

Shadows are possible because of the bright light that shines. That's why institutions are really the lengthened shadows of those who live brilliantly. That's as true for the individual who feels of little consequence as it is for the world's great personalities. That's why it's a tragedy to hole up, pretending that there can be no spring.

I remember one of those pencil-thin teen-agers who was described to me as being so slim that in his tight clothing he wouldn't even cast a shadow. Some of us live so thinly that there's no bulk or substance to our lives, no shadow to cast, and nothing to carry on the tradition and the high hopes.

Already there are the evidences of spring, even in the northlands. There's a difference in the shadows and maybe a new certitude of the meaning our our relationships.

There's a great prayer out of the distant shadows, that needs to be restated in our contemporary existence.

"O Lord, support us all the day long until the shadows lengthen and the evening is come, and the busy world is hushed, and the fever of life is over, and our work is done. Then in thy mercy grant us a safe lodging and a holy rest, and peace at the last."

But until the shadows lengthen, let there be the awareness of sustaining guidance in the thick of things and the courage never to be frightened by our own shadow!

Memory Lane

By J. R. LOWELL

Ten Years Ago

The Gladstone Braves lost last night to Manistique by the score 55-54. This however, does not eliminate the Braves from a shot at the Great Lakes Conference championship in the elimination finals still to be played. Escanaba topped Kingsford in its final game of the season 69-64.

Carl Nyberg of Gladstone is 80 years old but in spite of his advanced years, still works hard every working day and is a blacksmith at that. He likes his work, he enjoys good health and hates to loaf around.

No confusion is anticipated in the transfer from Barr school to the others. Pupils have been assigned to the schools they are to attend and buses will take them to their destination.

Twenty Years Ago

Opening of navigation here has been tentatively set for April 1, officials of the C&NW Railroad indicated today.

Sylvester Rubick and Robert Berger of Manistique motored to Sault Ste. Marie Friday evening where they refereed the Soo-Newberry basketball game.

Sam Johnson, aged retired Soo Line employee, died yesterday in Milwaukee where he has been living since retirement. Johnson was engine dispatcher at the Gladstone roundhouse for many years.

Thirty Years Ago

Wisconsin was particularly hard hit by a blizzard that struck the state last night. A train between Green Bay and Milwaukee is reported many hours late. Upper Michigan forecast is "fair, somewhat colder."

Dr. Charles Herbert Tyndall, 77, once pastor of the Escanaba First Presbyterian Church, who later won a name as a scientist, died today at St. Petersburg, Fla.

A tractor used by S. M. Johnson in harvesting ice, dropped through the ice several weeks ago and was recovered only yesterday.

Ann Landers

Keep Saying No To Temptation

Dear Ann Landers: I am 25 and need help in a hurry. The man I've been going with is 30. He was engaged to a girl two years ago. She was killed in an accident and he is still getting over it.

This man is a manufacturer's representative and he travels on the road about half time time. I see him weekends. The last time he was home he asked me to take a week's vacation from my job and travel with him. It sounded like heaven.

I've always wanted to stay at first class hotels, dine in fine restaurants, see movies in the afternoon, shop in the country's most elegant stores and just loaf a little. It took a lot of will power to turn down his offer.

I'd like to marry this man and I think he'd like to marry me. I'm afraid if I play too hard to get he'll find someone who is more agreeable.

Please remember we're not teen-agers, Ann. I need some smart advice. — MARIA

Dear Maria: Someone ought to start an organization called "Temptation Anonymous" for gals who are on the verge of doing something foolish. It would be wonderful if you could call up a friend who would come over and sit with you until your brains became unbraided.

No is one of the most effective words in the language, and I urge you to keep saying it until he asks you to marry him. The woman who is interested in the long haul should beware of short trips.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week my wife's mother and three other relatives (hers) plus our family of four, went out to dinner. When the waitress brought the check my mother-in-law took it right out of my hands.

My mother-in-law is a good-hearted person but she is extremely domineering and has grabbed checks out of my hands before. When she does this I feel like a cross between a 7-year-old child and an out-of-work nebbish.

If you have a solution to this problem I'd like to hear it. — WILLING TO PAY

Dear Willing: Tell your mother-in-law that if she joins you for dinner at your invitation she is your guest and you want no debate over the check.

If you and your family are HER guests, suggest that she arrange in advance so that the check is not brought to the table. She can slip away quietly while the coffee is being served and pay it unobserved.

Dear Ann Landers: I could kiss you for telling the world that more wives handle the pocketbook than husbands and that they usually do a better job.

We've had the problem in our family for years and I've been begging for a chance to handle the family finances. After my husband read that column he agreed to hand over his check beginning with the next one, and see what I can do I can tell you now I couldn't do much worse than he has done. We've gotten so low at times that we've had to borrow milk money from the baby's piggy bank.

I've been fighting for this chance for 14 years and couldn't get to first base. And now you come along and do the trick with three sentences.

You've got a pretty smart head on those 45-year-old shoulders, Ann. Thank you for what you've done for me. — HEADING FOR THE BLACK

Dear Heading: I'm glad I helped. And now, just to keep the record straight, the head is resting on 46-year-old shoulders. I added one — while you weren't looking.

Tech Research Could Restore Charcoal Iron

HOUGHTON — Underground iron mining, a steadily decreasing industry in Upper Michigan for a decade, may one day benefit from a research project at Michigan Tech's Institute of Mineral Research.

With open pit mines, principally in Minnesota, now processing iron ore in a pellet form for shipment Upper Michigan's underground mines face an ever-decreasing market for their "soft" iron ore.

Pellets are a relatively new product made from low-grade ores by a fine grinding and upgrading operation known as "beneficiation." This process makes pellets the preferred feed for blast furnaces.

As iron mines continued to close and employment in the industry fell off, researchers at Tech's IMR three years ago set out to find new applications for the Upper Peninsula's "soft" ores, which contain up to about 60 per cent iron on a dry basis.

Generally they found it was impossible to beneficiate these ores using conventional flotation and separation processes, so a new method had to be tried.

LAST YEAR the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion, the federal Area Redevelopment Administration and the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. became interested in the project, and together they contributed $46,000 for its support.

Using ore samples from the Gogebic Range in the Ironwood-Wakefield area, IMR personnel, under the direction of research engineer John Nigro, have devised a reduction process (that is, elimination of oxygen) which produces a pellet containing nearly 70 per cent metallic iron.

Basically, the procedure involves grinding the ore, mixing it with carbon (in this case, finely-ground anthracite coal) and forming it into balls about the size of a nickel. These "green pellets," as they are called, are placed into a reactor where, through reduction, they are changed into pellets about one-half inch in diameter.

According to M. E. Volin, director of IMR, anthracite coal was chosen as the carbon-containing source after experimentation with coke and lignite. The furnace used in the study is a shaft type, built by IMR personnel.

During the reduction process, which ideally takes place between 2000 to 2200 degrees F. for approximately 15 minutes, carbon monoxide gas from the carbon and iron oxide reaction is burned to supply heat necessary to sustain the high temperature.

WITH FURTHER refinement in experimentation, Tech researchers hope to produce pellets containing 85 to 90 per cent iron with high strengths sufficient for shipment to market.

Presently most beneficiated pellets are used in blast furnaces, but the reduced pellets from "soft" underground Upper Peninsula ores could possibly provide feed for cupola furnaces in local foundaries.

IMR researchers feel that, with large-scale production, costs for producing these 'soft" ore pellets can range between $30 to $40 a ton compared to $65 or $70 per ton for pig iron presently used in cupolas. An experiment using IMR pellets in a foundry furnace is scheduled later in the year.

Experimentation is also underway to determine whether the reduced pellets can be reground and the metallic iron separated from the worthless material (gangue). Since the reduced pellets are magnetic, a magnetic separation process could be employed.

The resulting iron powder could then be formed into briquettes and possibly become a feed for electric steel making furnaces. By mid-year, IMR researchers hope to produce a sufficient quantity of these briquettes for testing in an electric furnace.

ANOTHER POSSIBLE application of the reduced iron pellets is in blast furnaces. Experiments by the U. S. Bureau of Mines using reduced pellets of 86 per cent iron content showed a 55 per cent increase in blast furnace production with a 44 per cent decrease in coke consumption.

To date, IMR personnel have been using ores from the Gogebic Range. Future tests will also include samples from the Marquette and Menominee iron ranges.

Test researchers chose anthracite coal as the source of carbon since the high cost of coke and the low carbon content of lignite made their use impractical.

They feel, however, that hardwood charcoal with its more desirable chemical properties would make a carbon source superior to anthracite. If charcoal costs could be made competitive, the woods industry could possibly benefit.

IMR personnel feel that advanced production technology will enable the iron mining industry to supply three kinds of products to customers — direct shipping ores, reduced pellets and metallized briquettes. With keen competition and an increased demand for pellets, employment in the Upper Peninsula's iron mines may be increased demand for better, proved or at least stabilized.

Perhaps employment cannot be restored to its high levels of earlier periods, but iron mining can enjoy a healthier competitive climate with a resulting higher standard of living for employees in the industry, Tech's researchers believe.

Blue And Gold Banquet Held At Bark River

BARK RIVER — The Bark River Cub Scout Pack 445 held its Blue and Gold banquet Monday, Feb. 22 in the multi-purpose room of the Bark River-Harris Elementary School. The meeting was well attended and a delicious potluck supper was served. Den Mothers, Mrs. Jack Erickson and Mrs. Theodore Bash baked and served a huge birthday cake in honor of Scouting's 55th year.

Assistant Cubmaster Edward LeBeau gave the invocation. A surprise birthday cake was presented to Cub Joseph Knauf by his den. During the meal recorded Cub Scout music was played.

The colors were presented by Cubs Philip Norman Jr., Stephen LeBeau, Del Quist and Robert Teal. "Make America Proud of You," was sung during the opening ceremony. Marvin Ray, president of the PTA, extended greetings from the unit which sponsors the Cubs.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to the assistant Cubmster Edward LeBeau; Den Mothers, Mesdames Lloyd Olson, Rodger Quist, Jack Erickson, Theodore Bash, Ronald Hurtibese and Hector Larson; and to the Den Chiefs, by Cubmaster Philip Norman Sr. Wolf badges were given to Kris Erickson, Robert Bash, Douglas Ayres, Steven Nelson, Keith Hurtibese and Dennis Moniowczak.

Bear badges were presented to Cubs Russell Ayres, Donald LaBelle, Larry Olson, Vernon Chase, Joseph Knauf, Phillip Norman Jr., James Ray, James Bash, Bruce Bell, Ted Bash and Robert Teal. Lion badges were awarded to Stephen LeBeau, Lloyd Olson, Del Quist and Bobby Larson.

Stephen LeBeau, Nathan Hale Award winner, read his theme, "Why I Like America," and displayed his beautiful award.

Cubs Philip Norman, Ted Bash and Robert Teal of Den 2 presented readings on "American Heritage." Den Mothers Mrs. Rodger Quist and Mrs. Ronald Hurtibese reported on the accomplishments of their respective Dens during the past year and Den 1 sang a song about George Washington's Cherry Tree.

Cubmaster Philip Norman thanked all for their excellent cooperation and conducted an impressive candlelight closing ceremony with the reading of Edgar A. Guest's "A Creed."

New GOP Group Meets March 10

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Republican coordinating committee will hold its first meeting March 10.

The group was formed last month in an effort to bring together all voices in the party. It includes former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the four unsuccessful GOP presidential nominees, 11 congressional leaders and five governors.

Michigan Move To Tax Reform Gaining Speed

LANSING (AP) — The 1965 Michigan tax reform bandwagon is gaining speed and passengers.

After a busy week in which Senate Democrats moved to develop a program, Republicans in both houses said they'd help and a vital income tax question was answered. Chances for enactment of a fiscal plan this year seemed better than at any time since the election.

Important early ground has been covered without either party antagonizing the other to any great degree.

One knowledgeable source surveyed the situation and said there are enough favorable votes to pass reform measures if the political problems and implications can be surmounted.

The problems concern working on a bipartisan basis; the implications are what might happen to tax enacters in the November, 1966, election.

The situation now is this:

Senate Democrats will draft within three weeks one or several fiscal reform programs.

Senate Republicans have offered to help but won't be called in until the Democrats at least have their rough plans ready.

House Republicans have named a committee to work with House Democrats in composing a fiscal plan. Indications are the offer will be accepted.

Republican Gov. George Romney says he's encouraged by the progress and will have his ideas ready for the Democrats when their plans are drawn.

Senate Republicans indicate they will not draft a plan and will not suggest the governor do so—but they're willing to talk with anyone.

There appears to be general agreement a fiscal package will include elimination of the business activities tax, an end to the sales tax on food and drugs and enactment of an income tax.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled this week that a flat rate income tax—the only kind allowed under the Constitution — could provide exemptions.

Democrats needed this assurance before they would proceed with fiscal reform because, they've indicated, their income tax plans envision a high-exemption, high-rate approach tending toward a graduated tax.

The destination is a long way off, but the reform bandwagon has left its parking place.

Marina Oswald Leaves U.M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) —Marina Oswald has left the University of Michigan, having caused hardly a ripple on the campus scene.

The 23-year-old Russian-born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy, has completed an course at the university's English Language Institute.

Mrs. Oswald spent eight weeks here as a part-time coed learning the English language.

"She was no different from anybody else," one of Mrs. Oswald's fellow students said.

"We didn't think of her any differently," said Prof. John T. Catford, institute director.

Catford said other students took little special notice of Mrs. Oswald.

Mrs. Oswald, blonde with blue eyes, dressed modestly. She went to and from class as any other girl intent on her studies.

The Michigan Daily, campus newspaper, kept a self-imposed silence about Mrs. Oswald's presence.

Mrs. Oswald held a news conference on her first day here last January but since then did not meet with the press. The First Presbyterian Church arranged for her living quarters.

An institute representative said Mrs. Oswald was expected to return to her home in Richardson, a Dallas, Tex., suburb.

Briefly Told

The Esky Y. F. C. Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Room 103 of Bay de Noc Community College. The Rev. Martin Strolle will speak and a skit and special music has been arranged. Bus transportation will be provided. The bus will leave Bark River Bible Church at 6:30, Bark River phone booth at 6:55, Webster School 7:15, Junior High 7:20.

The Marine Corps recruiting sergeant will visit Escanaba Tuesday and Wednesday, Mar. 2 and 3 to accept applications from high school seniors for enlistment in the Marine Corps' 120 day delay program. The recruiter will be in the Post Office Building, Escanaba.

appeared recently in Viet Cong hands. Included are semi-automatic carbines, light machine guns and assault rifles. Chinese Communist antitank grenade launchers and ammunition made in China also have been captured. And it is estimated the Viet Cong have at least 130 81mm mortars and 300 60mm mortars.

The report cited the discovery Feb. 16 of a Chinese Communist 100-ton cargo ship camouflaged just offshore, along the coast of Phu Yen Province in South Viet Nam. Captured after a bitter fight with the Viet Cong, the ship was found to contain a cargo of thousands of weapons and more than 1 million rounds of small arms ammunition.

"Almost all were of Communist origin, largely from Communist China and Czechoslovakia, as well as North Viet Nam," the report said. "At least 100 tons of military supplies were discovered near the ship."

Ship Identified

Documents found on the ship and on the bodies of several Viet Cong aboard, identified the vessel as having come from North Viet Nam.

"The incident underlined in the most dramatic form that Hanoi is behind the continuing campaign of aggression aimed at conquering South Viet Nam," the report said.

Terrorism — in 1964, the report said, 436 South Viet Nam hamlet chiefs and other government officials were killed by the Viet Cong and 1,131 were kidnaped. More than 1,350 civilians were killed in bombings and other acts of sabotage and at least 8,400 civilians were kidnaped by the Viet Cong.

A detailed examination was given of the political direction and control of the Viet Cong by the Communist party of North Viet Nam headed by Ho Chi Minh.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Friday the United States will send additional military forces to South Viet Nam.

Pentagon sources said the increase would total no more than 800. The United States now has about 23,500 troops in South Viet Nam.

Coups Held Enemy

In Moscow, Russian Premier Alexei N. Kosygin called for an end to U.S. reprisal raids on North Viet Nam as a condition for peace talks and repeated demands that the United States withdraw completely from South Viet Nam.

Administration strategists in Washington viewed the Kosygin speech, a report on his 11-day visit to Southeast Asia, as offering nothing new from past Soviet statements.

The white paper described North Viet Nam's intelligence system, through a Central Research Agency — CRA — as one of the most extensive operations of its kind in the world. It was said to operate under the close personal scrutiny of Ho Chi Minh.

Referring to the series of coups in South Viet Nam since November, 1963, the report said these distractions gave the Viet Cong "an invaluable opportunity and they took advantage of it" to consolidate their hold over some areas, enlarge military and political aparatus by increased infiltration and exploit demonstrations in Saigon and elsewhere.

The report said that while it has been long apparent Hanoi was conducting a campaign of conquest against South Viet Nam, the Saigon government and the United States both hoped the danger could be met within South Viet Nam itself.

The report declared: "Until the Hanoi regime decides to halt its intervention or until effective steps are taken to maintain peace and security in the area, the governments of South Viet Nam and the U.S. will continue necessary measures of defense against the Communist armed aggression."

Tories To Choose British Leaders

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Conservative party from now on will select its party chief by vote of the Tory members of the House of Commons rather than by so-called "kingmakers" in private conferences.

The party's leader, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, conceived the plan. It reportedly has the unanimous support of his shadow cabinet — the other party leaders in Parliament — and strong backing among the rank and file.

Carney Man Held On Check Charge

Jerome Paul Paquette, 25, of Carney was bound over to Delta County Circuit Court for trial after waiving examination Friday before Justice A. J. Mortier of Gladstone on charges of uttering and publishing no account checks.

Failing to post bond of $500, Paquette was remanded to the Delta County jail.

State Police of the Gladstone Post said Paquette was arrested in Gladstone yesterday in connection with $105 worth of checks cashed in Gladstone during the past two weeks.

Officers said the checks were written for $40, $30, $20 and $15.

Draft To Call 689 In April

LANSING (AP) — Michigan draft boards have been ordered to deliver 689 men for induction into the Army in April.

State Selective Service Headquarters said this was the largest call since January, 1964. The increase was due primarily to the lack of enough voluntary enlistments.

All men inducted, except for volunteers, will be over 21

The call by local boards:

Alger 3; Baraga 2; Delta 3; Dickinson 2; Gogebic 2; Keweenaw 1; Luce 1; Mackinac 3; Marquette 4; Ontonagon 1; Houghton 4.

Cardinal Meyer Weaker Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The condition of Albert Cardinal Meyer, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, apparently worsened today.

A spokesman at Mercy Hospital, where the prelate underwent brain surgery Thursday, reported at 9:40 CST that surgeons at that time were performing a tracheotomy, an emergency operation to ease breathing, on the cardinal.

Earlier, a medical bulletin issued by the hospital said, "There have been significant changes in the cardinal's vital signs (pulse, respiration and blood pressure) and are of concern to the medical team attending him." The bulletin said this condition was due possibly to a recurrence of increased intracranial pressure caused by post-operative swelling.

Cardinal Meyer's physicians, John L. Keeley, Harold C. Voris and George F. O'Brien, were at the hospital, a spokesman said.

WHAT HE WAS TRYING TO AVOID

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A truck hit a patch of ice on the U. S. 23 Freeway, skidded and overturned. The truck driver wasn't hurt. But he was embarrassed. The Genesee County truck was spreading salt to eliminate slick spots.

The sessions, covering such areas as the Bible, the Trinity, the Sacraments, the Person and work of Christ, Church history, the Liturgy, and the Christian life, will last about one hour each week and continue for ten sessions. Those interested in knowing more about the Christian Church, are urged to attend these interesting discussions or phone the pastor at 466-2170 for more information.

Next time you are serving franks, you might like to cut them in wedges and heat them in a barbecue sauce. Allow the franks to stand in boiling-hot water (off heat) for 10 minutes before slicing and adding to the sauce. Use a barbecue sauce with a tomato base.

Bonnie Jean Sovey, John D. Wenick Wed

Gladiolus and pompons were arranged in the altar vases of St. Thomas the Apostle Catholic Church today for the wedding of Bonnie Jean Sovey and Airman First Class John David Wenick, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sovey, 1320 N. 22nd St. Airman Wenick's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Wenick Sr. of Brownsville, Pa.

The 11:30 a. m. double ring ceremony was performed by Father Donald Shiroda.

A maid of honor, Diane Dahlke of Escanaba, and four bridesmaids, Judi Paulson, now at Travis AFB, Calif., Connie and Vicky Sovey, sisters, and Carol Wenick, Brownsville, a sitser of the bridegroom, preceded the bride down the white carpeted aisle. They were attired in floor length gowns of pink brocade with panel trains and their headpieces were matching shade. They carried cascades of pink and white carnations with a tiny accent of blue.

Bride's Gown

The bride's gown of crystal tulle, featured a bodice of Chantilly lace with a front panel extending to the hemline of the skirt, Sabrina neckline and tapered lace sleeves which extended to points over the wrist. Her veil of imported sheer net illusion was caught to a double crown. She carried a cascading bouquet of white feathered carnations, centered with cymbidium orchids. The bouquet she placed on the altar of the Blessed Virgin at the close of the wedding service was formed of white carnations and pompons.

Brenda Lee Sovey, young sister of the bride, wore a pink brocade frock with waist jacket, for her role of flower girl. She carried a basket filled with pink and white carnations. The rings were carried on a white satin pillow by young Tony Sovey, a cousin.

Airman John Whitacre served as best man and Airmen Dennis Anderson, Dale Ramsdale, Jerry Kapnick and Richard Garrett were groomsmen. All are stationed at K. I. Sawyer. Ushering were Terry Sovey and Private Dennis Toushak, U S. Marine Corps, who is home on leave from Camp Pendleton, Calif. The bridegroom and attendants all were in full dress uniform.

Reception and Dance

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sovey selected a two-piece navy blue suit with wide white collar. She wore a white hat and her accessories were white. Mrs. Wenick wore a two-piece emerald green suit with matching accessories. The mothers were presented with corsages of carnations and sweetheart roses.

The reception from 4 to 8 will be held at Carpenter's Hall and will be followed by a wedding dance.

Airman Wenick and his bride will be at home at 315 S. 13th St. in Escanaba after a wedding trip to points in Pennsylvania and to Washington, D. C.

The bride, a 1964 graduate of Escanaba Area High School, is secretary at WLST Radio Station, Escanaba. Airman Wenick was graduated from Brownsville Brashear Joint High School.

Homecoming At Rapid River Is Well Attended

RAPID RIVER — Linda Greenlund and Fred Wilbee are Rapid River's homecoming queen and king for 1965. Cheryl Talvitie, student council secretary-treasurer, presented the pair with their royal crowns at Rapid River's homecoming dance, Saturday night. Queen Linda was honored by the Student Council with a dozen red roses.

The successful homecoming party was attended by 300 people. Dance music was played by the popular Rhythm Rockers". An oriental atmosphere was provided by the colorful decorations. The "Shangra La" theme was displayed in a beautiful Chinese tea garden complete with ten foot tall trees covered with blossoming flowers. The garden featured a swing which was a popular attraction with the guests.

A large Chinese tea house, made by the high school's industrial arts class, centered the stage surrounded by hanging Chinese lanterns. The king and queen thrones were arranged within the house. Oriental screens displaying figures of fans, dragons, and peace symbols provided a decorative entrance to the dance.

The decoration credit goes to Cheryl Talvitie, chairman and her committee, Kris Johnson, Kathy Viau, tea garden, Deanna Dutton, screens, Barbara Oberg, band shell and to all students helping with the decorations. Miss Barbara Fish was the teacher adviser.

Punch and cookies were served at individual tables decorated with Chinese candle lamps. Klint Safford and Mrs. Ray Phillips were on the refreshment committee.

"Sundays at Seven" is an informal service combining the efforts of six Escanaba churches. Following the service Sunday evening, the series will not be resumed until the first Sunday after Easter.

Program At Rapid River PTA Meeting

RAPID RIVER—Rapid River P. T. A. met at the Elementary School Monday evening, Mrs. Charles Bowen, presiding officer.

Ernest Vanderhoff reported that the spaghetti dinner given by the Rapid River Men Organization showed a profit of approximately $100. The organization is raising funds for a recreation program in the Rapid River area.

Walter Peters, school superintendent, praised the committee of women working on the school millage proposal. The committee informed the voting public with correspondence and telephone reminders. The school millage proposal won at the Feb. 8 school election.

Mrs. Thomas Safford, project chairman, told of the talent show progress. The show will be held tonight at 8 p. m. in the high school gymnasium. The membership was reminded that tickets may be purchased at the door.

Mrs. Stanley Dominick, program chairman, introduced the evening's guest speaker, John Haines. Haines, Associate administrator at St. Francis Hospital, presented a program on Escanaba's Kiwanis Club's study on "School Dropouts". A movie entitled, "When I'm Old Enough—Good-bye", told the story of a boy quitting school and searching for work in our changing society. Following the movie, Haines told of the committee's work with 20 students of the Escanaba Area School system. Six of the students were taken to Marquette Prison where the inmates were interviewed on their formal education. Haines showed and explained graphs which told the average earning capacity of a "dropout student" and one who received his high school diploma.

A question and answer period followed which showed the audience reception to the informative program. Miss Ina Short's sixth grade received the room count award. The sixth grade mothers served refreshments.

Miss Montpas Bride Of Barry Gianunzio

Residing in Highland Park, Ill., are the Barry Paul Gianunzios, who were married in a 10 a. m. double ring ceremony Feb. 20, performed by Father Walter Franczek at St. Francis Xavier Church in Spalding. The bride is the former Louisa Jane Montpas of Highland Park, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Montpas, Powers. The bridegroom, stationed at Great Lakes Naval Base, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gianunzio of 413 6th St., Iron Mountain.

The couple greeted 100 guests at a reception at the Powers Legion Hall during which a buffet was served by the Ladies Auxiliary. Lavender and white chrysanthemums, flanked by green tapers, centered the bridal table.

Honor attendants were the bride's sister, Annette, of Highland Park, and Warren Gianunzio of Iron Mountain, brother of the bridegroom. Jerry Tarpie of Highland Park ushered.

The bride wore a short silk alpaca gown with fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves and boat neckline. The skirt and bodice were trimmed with lace applique, sequins and pearls. A flat crown of satin, trimmed with pearls, held her shoulder length veil. A white orchid with streamers of white, knotted with baby mums, was on the white lace cover of her prayer book. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom's mother, who had received it from her son, and an heirlom bracelet, presented her by the bridegroom's grandmother.

Her honor maid was attired in a kelly green dress, street length, with bell shaped skirt, fitted bodice, three - quarter length sleeves and high round neckline. Her headpiece was a taffeta crown with shoulder length veil. She wore a gold cross necklace, gift of the bride, and she carried yellow roses and white baby chrysanthemums.

Corsages of yellow roses and white baby mums complemented the mothers' attire. Mrs. Montpas chose sapphire blue velveteen and Mrs. Gianunzio wore a green figured sheath.

The bride attended Powers-Spalding High School and completed her practical nurse training at Marquette. Her husband is an Iron Mountain High School graduate.

Emeralds Trip Munising In Great Lakes Contest

MANISTIQUE — Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Manistique Emeralds shook off their three-game slump h ere Friday night in the season finale and edged Munising, 74-68, in Great Lakes Conference competition.

With Erio Blomquist, Jon Jon Cameron and Tom Brawley pulling the strings, the Emeralds operated as a well-oiled machine for the first time in several weeks.

Cameron turned in one of his finest performances of the campaign with 11 field goals and five free throws for 27 points. Brawley pumped in 19 and Blomquist added 16.

Munising broke for an early 9-2 lead but the Emeralds rallied to cut the deficit to 23-21 at the end of the first quarter. A fabulous 45 foot shot by Cameron came at the buzzer and drew a roar of amazement from the crowd.

The Emeralds took command with a 21-13 scoring edge in the second half and outscrapped the Mustangs the rest of the way.

Outscored by one field goal, the Emeralds clicked on 18 of 25 free throw opportunities. They hit on 47 per cent of their field goal attempts, 28 of 59.

Manistique also won the jayvee game, 69-49.

Comets Crush Bronco Quint

BARK RIVER — Trenary's high-scoring Comets broke open Bark River's slow-down tactics with 31 points in the second quarter Friday night and buried the Broncos 70-46 in the regular season finale for both teams.

Trenary led only 8-5 after the first quarter as Bark River, playing without starter Jim Heeker who was sidelined by illness, played possession basketball. The Comets had avenged 86 points per game going into last night's contest.

Dave Bolm of Bark River paced both teams in scoring with 22 points.

Trenary also won the jayvee game, 39-35 in overtime.

Huskies Defeat UM Sextet, 7-2

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A four-goal outburst in the second period gave Michigan Tech a 7-2 victory over Michigan in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association Friday night.

Michigan's loss, coupled with Michigan State's 8-2 triumph over Colorado College, appeared to end the Wolverines' chances of reaching the league playoffs.

The Huskies scored early and late in the second period to erase a one-goal Wolverine lead.

Bob Toothill and Ricky Yeo tallied the first goals within 6 minutes of the period. Al Holm and Fred Dart slammed the puck into the Michigan net with less than three minutes to go in the period.

Toothill and Holm each added second goals in the third period for Tech. Bob Wilson also scored.

Alex Hood and Tom Polonic scored for Michigan.

Michigan Tech is 11-5-1 in the WCHA. Michigan is 7-10.

Braves Suffer Setback At Soo

SOO—Coach Bill Wood is hoping today that his Braves got the bad game out of their system.

"Our worst exhibition of the season," the outspoken Gladstone coach tabbed the 58-43 setback to Sault Ste. Marie Friday night.

The Braves had a miserable night from the field, hitting on only 17 of 57 shots for 29 per cent. Soo's Blue Devils were not much better with 20 of 50, but added 18 of 24 from the foul line to win going away. The Braves made 9 of 15 free throws.

It was Soo all the way as the Braves trailed 11-5 at the end of the first quarter and 28-18 at halftime. The Blue Devils retained control throughout the second half and the Braves were unable to present a serious challenge.

Rick Ebbesen, one of the top scorers in recent Gladstone history, was able to tally only 10 last night but finished the season with 329 for an average of just over 20 per game.

Gary Englund was the only other Brave in double figures last night with 11 points.

Wolves Sick; Suffer Loss

CHANNING — With four players sidelined by illness, and the coach home in bed with the flue, the Carney Wolves bowed to Channing 77-61 in the season finale for both teams here Friday night.

The victory gives Channing a share of the Big Seven Conference championship with Hermansville.

The Wolves played without the services of Bob Macco, out with pneumonia, and Fred Janofski, Bob Fadroski and Brian Forgette who have the flu. Ron Solberg, junior varisty coach, took over for head coach Bob Kuntze.

Carney led 18-14 at the end of the first period but couldn't maintain the pace. The Railroaders took command with a 20-8 second period.

Cliff Perras topped the Carney scorers with 23 points and had 16 rebounds. Lester Laurin filled in with 14 points and 15 rebounds.

Foreign Stars To See Action

By The Associated Press

Uganda's Aggrey Awori leads Harvard's quest for a second straight Heptagonal Games title in Ithaca, N.Y., tonight and lends the international touch that spices the other major indoor track meets in Baltimore and Louisville.

The Mason-Dixon Games in Louisville feature Australian Ron Clarke, who may try for a two-mile record on the fast, eight-lap track, while a trio of Poles who won in New York Thursday head the All-Eastern affair in Baltimore.

Those include miler Witold Baran, voted the outstanding athlete in the New York Knights of Columbus meet Thursday, high jumper Edward Czernik and middle distance man Andrezej Badenski.

Badenski took the 600 in New York in 1:12.4, but figures he'll have to do much better than that to stand off Toronto's Bill Crothers. Crothers, out of action with a chest infection and fatigue for a week, was snowbound in Toronto Thursday but is expected to compete as scheduled tonight.

Redskins Share Big Seven Title

PEMBINE—Coach Don Hill's Hermansville Redskins needed a clutch performance by Dan Vincent in the final minutes of action here last night to nip Pembine 62-59 and grab a share of the Big Seven Conference basketball crown.

The Redskins ran into a slow-down style of ball from the Panthers and managed only 55 shots in the game. They canned 20 of them for 36 per cent, but the Panthers hit on 22 from the field.

It was a different story from the free throw line where the Redskins poured in 22 of 29 opportunities. The Panthers connected on 15 of 27 from the line.

Burry Venstra came up with an outstanding performance for Pembine with 30 points off a dozen field goals and six free throws.

Hermansville's attack was paced by Ron Povolo with 22 points, but Doug LaCoursier starred in a strong supporting role with 18 points. He tossed in nine field goals from long range and was a demon on the boards.

A field goal by Vincent capped Hermansville's fourth quarter comeback with two minutes to go in the game, giving the Redskins a 59-57 lead which they never relinquished.

Hermansville and Channing finished in a deadlock at the top of the final Big Seven Conference standings.

Povolo nailed down the Upper Peninsula individual season scoring championship with 661 points and an average of 35 per game.

Hermansville won the jayvee game, 75-37.

Little Giants Crack Perkins

ROCK — The Rock Little Giants closed out the regular campaign on a successful note here Friday night, defeating Perkins 68-48 in Central League action.

Coach Roman Gill's steadily improving Rockets flashed a balanced attack with four players in double figures, led by Bob Maki with 21 points. They headed t h e Yellowjackets throughout the contest and held off a third quarter threat when Perkins came within four points.

Perkins was paced by John Falkies with 14 points.

Spartans Clip Colorado Six

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State's Tom Mikkola scored the hat-trick plus one when he fired four goals into the net of Colorado College and helped win a college hockey game 8-2 Friday night.

Spartan Doug Roberts clicked twice, and Rick Hargreaves and Doug Volmer each had one goal. Scorers for Colorado College were Warren Fordyce and Glen Blumer.

Notes, Quotes At Tiger Camp

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Notes and quotes at the Detroit Tigers' spring training camp:

Does playing baseball the year 'round make a player tired?

At least one player doesn't think so.

"I'd play baseball in Detroit during the summer and then play winter ball every year if they'd let me," outfielder Willie Horton said.

Horton said one thing he learned in the winter league this year was to move around in the batter's box against different pitchers.

"I used to stand in one place in the box," Horton explained, "and sinker ball pitchers used to be able to pitch in close. But now I move up in the box and get a better chance to hit the ball."

At lunch recently, pitcher Hank Aguirre and scout-coach Bernie deViveiros reached for the last egg salad sandwich at the same time.

Each pulled back and offered it to the other.

Finally, deViveiros ended incident with:

"You take it, Hank. You have to win 20 games this year. I don't."

Pitcher Billy Hoeft, back with the Tigers after a five-year absence, still can't understand why the Milwaukee Braves released him.

Hoeft, who was 2-0 at San Francisco in 1963 and 4-0 with the Braves last year, remarked:

"I was released from the league where I was undefeated and signed up in the same league in which I have suffered 95 losses. There's a moral there somewhere.

St. Paul Closes Unbeaten Year; Rockets Fizzle

RAPID RIVER — The Negaunee St. Paul Emeralds completed their first all-winning basketball season in the school's history here Friday night when they sailed past the Rapid River Rockets 77-55.

The triumph was St. Paul's 18th straight this season, the first for Coach Gordy LeDuc at the Emerald helm. Rapid River had given the Emeralds their touhgest test this season in a pervious meeting, bowing by two points.

The Rockets battled on even terms through most of the first half, trailing 35-31 at the intermission. But St. Paul took command with a 20-12 third quarter and iced it with a 22-12 finale.

Doug Moss, Rapid River's 6 foot 2 inch senior was the individual standout of the game, pumping in 33 points on 16 field goals and a free throw. That raised his season total to 436 and his career total to 1,189, second highest in the school's history.

His one-man bucket barrage, however, was not enough to offset the balanced scoring of the St. Paul quint.

Dom Jacobetti led four Emeralds in high double figures with 24 points. The 6 foot senior guard closed his season with 581 points.

The game was marked by an almost total lack of fouls. Only six were called on each team.

The defeat left Rapid River with a 12-5 season record.

Eben Eagles Nip Champion

CHAMPION—Coach Jim Depew's Central League champions from Eben closed out their regular campaign with a rugged 67-64 victory over Champion here Friday night.

The Eagles played under a severe handicap with 38 personal fouls and four players on the bench because of them.

In spite of that, Eben came from behind in the fourth quarter and edged the Indians on three free throws in the final minute of the game by Arne Haavisto. Andy Freberg triggered the fourth quarter comeback with eight points.

Bill Carlson, who fouled out late in the third period, paced the Eagles with 23 points and Freberg tossed in 20.

A total of 66 fouls marred the game and the teams attempted 96 free throws. Champion made 36 of 56 and Eben canned 25 of 40.

Gladding Glad He's Heaviest

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Fred Gladding, still the heaviest man on the Detroit Tigers roster, knows better than anyone that he tends to stay heavy. He reported early this year to try to slim down.

"I weight about 225 now but feel great," Gladding said Friday. "I seem to gain two pounds even if I take a drink of water. So I have to watch it."

Gladding's tonsils were removed last December and this kept him from eating solids for awhile. It also took care of a sore throat problem which had been bothering him a number of seasons.

Unlike a few years ago, Gladding does not have to worry about winning a place on the Detroit roster.

He was the busiest man in the Tigers bullpen in 1964 with 42 appearances. He struck out 59 batters in 67 innings, winning seven games and saving the same number, all after June 27.

Gladding was not scored on in 28 of those appearances, including eight straight games in late July and early August and ten straight later in August.

His teammates consider him one of the better relief pitchers in the American League.

"Take a look at his earned run average," one of the veteran pitchers said. "It has never been very high." Gladding's ERA for 115 innings of work in the majors is 2.74.

Gladding took part in drills on covering first base, then ran a few wind sprints Friday.

Eight other pitchers threw in batting practice and Gladding was expected to get the call today.

The Tigers practiced outdoors for the first time and the other regulars in camp — though not officially expected to report until next Wednesday—took batting practice.

Manager Charlie Dressen said he will expect his pitchers to throw ten minutes of batting practice the first time, 15 minutes the next, etc. Some of those who have been in camp longer will be expected to pitch more.

"I know Larry Sherry can pitch 45 minutes right now," Dressen said. "But I don't want to give anyone that much work for awhile."

Crusaders Bow To Kingsford In Final Game

KINGSFORD — The Kingsford Flivvers fought off one of Holy Name's patented rallies here Friday night and nipped the Crusaders 68-62 in a Class B district tournament preview.

Coach Gordon Farragh's Flivvs gained revenge for a two point setback suffered to Holy Name earlier in the campaign.

Kingsford used deadly shooting by Dick McCarthy to build up a 23-18 lead in the first quarter and a 37-28 margin at the half. McCarthy scored 16 points in the first two periods.

Trailing by 11 points early in the third frame, the Crusaders rallied to cut their deficit to three points, 49-46, on a pair of late field goals by Walter Veldman and Charley Dube.

In the fourth quarter the Crusaders pulled up to within one point at 57-56 as Frank Trotter canned two long distance shots. But the Flivvers spurted for a 67-58 advantage and stalled out the final minute and a half of action.

The Flivvers had four players in double figures with McCarthy hitting 22 and Rich Freeman 17 to set the pace.

Walter Veldman led Holy Name with 19, followed by Frank Trotter with 18.

The Crusaders converted 12 of 15 free throws while the Flivvers cashed in on 6 of 9.

Trotter closed out his senior campaign with 322 points for the regular season.

Kingsford also won the jayvee game, 58-48.

Nahma Try Falls Short

NAHMA — The Nahma Arrows staged a valiannt comeback in an effort to escape an all-losing season here Friday night in their finale against Grand Marais, but the rally fell one point short and Coach Seb Rubick's cagers bowed 61-60.

The Arrows fought an uphill battle and caught the Polar Bears midway in the third period, but couldn't maintain the pace. They trailed 53-44 in the fourth quarter when they began their comeback.

David Larson scored a field goal, Rick Mercier a free throw and Rick Schafer a field goal at the buzzer to pull the Arrows to within one point.

Mercier paced the Nahma scoring with 28 points while Scott Thorington tallied 24 and grabbed 21 rebounds for Grand Marais.

Ferris Romps To 16th Win

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Ferris State romped to an 81-66 basketball victory over Ohio Northern in concluding its regular season Friday night with a 16-5 record in independent play.

The victory was Ferris' 19th straight at home over two seasons.

Derek Dickinson of Ohio Northern led individual scorers with 25 points. Rudy Ransom, one of three Ferris men in double figures, scored 17.

Ferris plays Northern Michigan Monday night for the right to represent Michigan in the NAIA tournament at Kansas City.

SPORTS MEMORIES!

Highlights from the world of sports from a decade ago . . . do you remember?

Fourth Week February, 1955

- Portage Lake's Pioneers drubbed the Esky Hawks 9-1 to tie the locals for the second place spot in the NMO hockey league. The Hawks then trimmed Marquette 6-0 later in the week.
- Larry Hermanson scored 29 points as Perkins bested Bark River 63-43.
- Mike Heminger scored 17 points as Escanaba tripped the Kingsford Flivers 69-64. Esky's season record stands at 8-8.
- Gladstone wins the Great Lakes Crown in spite of a 55-54 loss to Manistique in the season's finale. Gladstone ends the campaign with a 12-4 record.
- Holy Name ended its season with a 77-70 win over Gwinn, giving the Crusaders a 12-4 record for the season.
- John Berrigan of Holy Name must have been one of the season's steadiest performers as he tallied no less than 22 points in any of the 16 games, and only left the 20's in two games where he scored 38 and 32 points.

Mountaineers Score Top Upset Of Cage Campaign

By The Associated Press

The West Virginia Mountaineers, with their worst record in 21 years, scored the college basketball upset of the season Friday night.

They whipped the nationally sixth-ranked Davidson Wildcats 74-72 in overtime, snapping the Wildcats' 23-game winning streak and snuffing out their hopes of winning the Southern Conference championship and a bertn in the NCAA tournament.

UCLA, the defending national champs and second-ranked to Michigan in this week's Associated Press poll, crushed Stanford 83-67, third-ranked St. Joseph's of Philadelphia won its 14th straight and an NCAA berth by defeating LaSalle 93-85 and 10th-ranked New Mexico, bound for the NIT, was humbled by Wyoming 83-65.

Penn knocked Cornell out of first place in the Ivy League by upsetting the Big Red 79-70, Syracuse surprised St. John's of New York 68-59 and Brigham Young took over the lead in the WAC by beating Arizona 92-88. The University of Pacific downed San Francisco 67-65 in another surprise.

A crowd of 11,666 saw West Virginia score its astounding upset over Davidson in the semifinals of the Southern Conference championship tourney at Charlotte.

Fred Hetzel, who scored 29 points, including three baskets in the last two minutes, pulled Davidson from 13 points back to tie the regulation game at 68-68. But in the overtime John Lesher, who led West Virginia with 26 points, broke a 70-70 tie with a layup and free throws by Buddy Quertinmont and Bill Maphis in the last 27 seconds sewed it up for the Mountaineers.

Princeton, led by All-America Bill Bradley's 23 points, walloped Columbia 93-60 and replaced Cornell at the top of the Ivy League. The Tigers can win their third straight title by beating Cornell tonight.

Gail Goodrich's 24 points paced UCLA over Stanford at Palo Alto as the Bruins clinched at least a tie for the Pacific Athletic Conference title. A turnout of 6,141, the largest crowd in seven years at Laramie, watched Wyoming upset the NIT-bound New Mexico Lobos. Leon Clark and Flynn Robinson combined for 39 points to lead the Cowboys.

Benton Harbor Ace Sets Mark

By The Associated Press

Benton Harbor, ranked tops in basketball among class A Michigan high schools, rolled up its 27th victory Friday night by walloping Muskegon Heights 96-66.

L. C. Bowen alone scored 41 points for Benton Harbor, breaking the school's career scoring record.

In class C, top-rated Portland downed DeWitt 101-81. The victory was Portland's 16 in a row.

Class B No. 1 team River Rouge was one of the many teams that had to cancel because of Thursday's blizzard.

Tecumseh, ranked second in class B, saw its 14-game winning streak broken by unranked Blissfield, 98-75.

Edmore, ranked ninth in class C, suffered an upset when Saranac's Dave Baie decied the game for his team in the last second of play. The 48-46 loss ended Edmore's 15-game winning streak.

Negaunee St. Paul ranked first in class D, finished its season by downing Rapid River 77-55. Negaunee is going into the Michigan High School Tournament after winning the class D title for the second year in a row.

In other class D action, Ashley broke a 21-game losing streak by defeating Vestaburg 76-58 which fielded only 3 players after 6 of 9 cagers had fouled out.

Fennville, ranked sixth in class C, overwhelmed Hopkins 98-59.

Fifth-ranked Saginaw Holy Rosary stomped Pinconning St. Michael 120-64 in class D action.

Central Spills Eastern Cagers

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—Leading virtually all the way, Central Michigan rolled over Eastern Michigan 84-58 Friday night in a basketball game.

It was the fourth victory in a row for the Chippewas. it snapped a four-game winning streak for the Hurons.

Central was tied briefly 2-all in the first two minutes of play but pulled ahead to a halftime lead of 44-30.

Central's high scorer was Don Edwards with 20 points. Rod Marlatt scored 17 for Eastern.

Eastern is 10-7 and Central is 16-6.

Cold Weather Bothers Snead

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — When a great golfer is on the far side of 50, and the weather is cold and rough, the old touch sometimes vanishes with the wind.

So it was for the old swinger, Sam Snead, winner of every world title but the U.S. open, in Friday's first round of the Teacher Trophy Championship for the distinguished senior citizens of golf.

In raw winds gusting at 30 miles an hour, Sam stiffened up. Afte the third hole, he said, "My drives were killing me." And that's a rare development, for few pros ever had a sweeter swing off the tees.

Snead, the defending champion and the big favorite of the senior galleries, finished up tied for fifth place at 71 and praying for warmer and calmer weather.

Spahn Holdout With NY Mets

By The Associated Press

Warren Spahn is half a holdout.

The 43-year-old pitcher, who has gone from his worst year in the major leagues to the worst team in the major leagues, arrived at the New York Mets' spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., Friday and promptly took part in two meetings.

In the first he was Spahn, the pitcher, and in the second he was Spahn, the coach. The Mets purchased the veteran southpaw from the Milwaukee Braves last November, planning to use him both as a player and as a pitching coach.

However, Spahn has not agreed to terms for the 1965 season.

"I'm not a holdout as a coach, just as a pitcher," Spahn said smiling.

Despite the lack of a contract, Spahn planned to start working out with the other pitchers and the catchers.

"I'm a pitcher first and a coach second," he commented. "My responsibility is to get into shape and win ball games. That's what I intend doing."

After winning 350 games and compiling a 2.97 earned run average in 19 major league seasons, Spahn plummeted to a 6-13 record and a 5.28 ERA last year. Making 25 starts, he completed only four games.

A 13-time winner of 20 or more games in a season, Spahn said his contractual differences with the Mets are minor and he expects to reach an agreement soon after Mets' President George Weiss arrives in camp.

Elsewhere around the training camps, players on several teams got in some advance work Friday.

At the Detroit camp outfielders Al Kaline, Gates Brown and Willie Horton, catcher Bill Freehan and a number of rookies got in some early batting practice.

Ken McMullen joined the Washington Senators for some work at third base under Coach Eddie Yost while New York Yankees Tony Kubek and Tom Tresh decided to work out for two hours even though they supposedly were only visiting the camp.

Folley Fashions Easy Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'd like Floyd Patterson next," said winner Zora Folley today.

"Me no good; he good," said loser Oscar Bonavena.

"I goofed," said Bonavena's manager, Marv Goldberg. "I thought Folley was all washed up."

So it's upward and onward to maybe Patterson at Madison Square Garden, May 10, for the 32-year-old Folley while it's back to the small clubs for more lessons for the crude, 22-year-old Argentine.

Folley, the fourth ranking heavyweight contender from Chandler, Ariz., did everything but knock out the previously unbeaten South American in a near shutout of the Garden Friday night. He won by rounds scores of 9-1, 9-1, and 10-0 from the three officials. The Associated Press had it 9-1 for Folley.

"I'd like to fight Patterson next," said the modest, articulate Folley, unbeaten in his last seven fights. "I know Patterson wants to fight once more while waiting for the outcome of the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight (May 25). I'm more than willing. The winner could get the title fight next."

"We're going to see Patterson and see if we can make it," said Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner. "We've got a May 10 date open and with closed circuit television it could go over real big."

Folley, a pro 11½ years and boasting a 9-7-4 record, dropped his inexperienced, muscular foe with a right to the jaw for a five-count in the eighth round, staggered him in the first and fourth rounds and sliced him on the left eyelid.

Top farm team in the Yankee baseball system this season will be Toledo in the International League. The franchise was moved from Richmond last November.

WW1 Veterans Are Honored

Vital Payant of Iron Mountain, state commander for World War 1 veterans, spoke at a banquet Thursday night in the VFW hall honoring veterans of World War 1. The local VFW post sponsored the event.

Payant urged veterans to unite in their efforts to keep benefits achieved and for those to be sought. He described recent trips to confer with lawmakers in Lansing and Washington, D. C., and told of proposed cutbacks planned in veterans benefits. The recent order closing hospitals and on veterans tax exemptions were discussed.

Michael Kotchen, chaplain of the WW1 barracks gave invocation, and Ralph Deloria gave the welcome, with response by George Carney, WW1 barracks commander. Pre-dinner music was provided by Mrs. Roy LaMarche and Carl Olson. Don Martin led group singing and was toastmaster.

Others bringing messages were Mayor Merwin White, Archie Carpenter, chairman of the All-Vets committee, Lionel Mercier, veterans counsellor, Fred Hahne, Ralph Bell of Republic, 14th district VFW commander, William Hentschell, representing the DAV commander and Elmer Richey. An American Legion message was read to the group.

During the program, the names of 21 veterans who died in the past year were read. George Carney was presented a special award for outstanding work in veterans' unity.

Special awards were won by Mmes. Fred Hahne and Ralph Merwin, William Dorman and Alfred Swanson.

MRS. KENNETH Osterhout, who will bowl in the Milwaukee tournament.

Mrs. Osterhout In Pin Contest

Mrs. Kenneth Osterhout, a Manistique grandmother who began bowling four years ago is going to Milwaukee March 27 to compete in a regional pin contest which could win her a trip to Hawaii.

Mrs. Osterhout, the former Laura (Pat) DeMars, bowled a 587 in competition at Brault's here, then moved on to Marquette's Shoreland Alleys to bowl a 540.

"I've always wanted to see some real good bowlers and this will give me a chance for that," says Mrs. Osterhout.

Her husband, an employe of Inland Lime and Stone Co. also has been a top notch bowler.

At the Milwaukee Sports, Travel and Boat Show, Mrs. Osterhout will be competing with top bowlers from the region. The top winner each of eight days will advance to finals March 28. Mrs. Osterhout, who will be accompanied by her husband, bowls March 27. Both men and women are competing.

Since she was coaxed to begin bowling in 1960-61 season, Mrs. Osterhout has accumulated a collection of trophies. Three team trophies and several individual high game and high series honors are included.

The Pabstranaut team on which Mrs. Osterhout bowls took first place in the city tournament this year and the Roy's Standard, on which she also bowls, came in third. She won high scratch series and high scratch all events.

Using a zero pitch ball, Mrs. Osterhout throws with a slight curve.

She is a native of Manistique and likes to hunt and fish.

Her family includes a son, Kenneth in high school here, and a married daughter, Mrs. Paul Walker, Crandon, Wis., and one grandson.

1. Card of Thanks

Erickson

We wish to thank the many friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindnesses shown to us since the burning of our home. We especially want to thank the Salem Lutheran Church of Bark River, the Seventh Day Adventist Church of Escanaba, those who gave food, clothing, household items and other gifts. We thank you all.

Mr. and Mrs.
Verne Erickson

Paulson

I wish to take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation for all the cards, flowers and gifts I received from friends, neighbors and relatives while I was a patient at St. Francis Hospital and since I have returned to my home. Your thoughtfulness has meant very much to me.

Mrs. Clinton Paulson

Scenic Areas Bill Offered

LANSING (AP)—A bipartisan group of four senators Friday introduced a bill to establish a new scenic areas commission intended to help control advertising industry, the roadside services industry and the State Highway Department.

Sponsors are Sens. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey; Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor; Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, and Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit.

Powers to be granted the new commission would include authority to establish or vacate scenic areas bordering state trunkline highways and the national system of interstate and defense highways in the state after public hearings.

All advertising displays would be prohibited along state highways except official directional signs, on-site sale or lease signs and on-site business signs. The commision would have no authority to act within incorporated manicipalities or where there might be conflicting legally established land uses.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Rita Chartier, Gulliver; Patricia Hewitt, 129 S. Houghton; Henry DeSautel, 812 Arbutus; Vivian Bradley, E. Lakeshore Drive.

Discharged were Vivian Provo, Junior Middaugh, Raymond Olsen and Kay Jenerou.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Strange sight? Not really! We're getting used to seeing pictures of our own earth. We're getting used to the concept of a universe instead of a world. We can believe that the moon's soon to become a landing place.

Does this familiarity with space — does our thrust into the physical unknown — make the basic facts of life and death any simpler to us? Certainly not! Man is in a peculiar position, today. The more he explores, the more vast he finds what lies ahead of him. The more he learns, the more he discovers how infinitely much there is to know.

More than ever before, man realizes how great the hand of God has been in fashioning this world, this universe, we live in. That's why people everywhere — including scientists, astronauts, space pioneers — are men of religious conviction. Go to church this Sunday, and see for yourself.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
